There are two sorts of them, the one call'd Pacos, which are woolly, the others are smoother, but better for Burden. They are all bigger than our largest Sheep, and somewhat less than large Calves, their Neck is long like a Camel's, and they have need of it to graze, being very tall. Some are quite white, others quite black, others grey. Their Lambs are the best Meat in the World. These Sheep are drove in Flocks of 100, 500, or 1000 together, like Pack-Horses, with their Loads of all sorts of Commodities; and it is they that carry all the Silver from the Mines of Potosi to Arica, which is 70 Leagues; and formerly they carry'd it to Arequipa, which is 150 Leagues. Every Sheep commonly carries about an hundred Weight, or an hundred and a half; but if they are to travel far, they go but 2, 3, or at most 4 Leagues a day; if it be but for one day's Journey, one of these Sheep will carry two hundred Weight, or more, and will travel between 8 and 10 Leagues. They naturally affect Cold, and therefore live most on the Mountains, and die often with Heat in the Plains. The smooth Sheep will sometimes stop on a sudden, and stand a long time gazing a Man in the Face, that it will make one laugh to see them; but now and then they will take a fright, and run away to the Mountain, so that not being able to overtake them, they are forc'd, for fear of losing the Plate, to shoot them. The Pacos, or woolly Sheep sometimes take pet under their Burden, and lye down, and then they may kill them sooner than make them rise. The way the Indians use to get them up, is to stop, and sitting down by them, to stroke, and make much of them till their Anger is over, which is sometimes two or three hours. *F. Jof. Acost. Nat. Prov. Mi madre andadora, finó es en su casa, en todas las otras moras, My rambling Mother lives in all other Houses but her own. A Reproof to gadding Women who love to be in all the Houses of the Town, but their own.

Prov. Quién no cree a buena madre creerá a mala madrástra, He that does not believe a good Mother, will believe a bad Stepmother, that is, he who is not pleas'd when he is well, will be forc'd to be contented when he is worse.

Prov. Casáos madre, Mother marry. This short Proverb, they say, took its rise from a Widow who had a great mind to marry, but having a Son grown up, who was a Scholar, he always oppos'd it violently, and she persisted in her Resolution; wherefore at length she told him, if he would do one thing she should enjoin him, she would not marry, he consented; and he being then very full of the Itch, she said, if he did not scratch himself in three days, she would lay aside all Thoughts of a Husband. The young Man was closely watch'd, and before many hours were pass'd, had occasion enough to scratch, but forbore because of the Contrast. Thus he continu'd some time, but the Itching increasing, he could not hold at last, and so falling to scratch to his own Content, he cry'd out, Mother marry. The Contrast was void, and he could resist no longer. It is apply'd to those who consent, others should do what they please, so they have the same liberty themselves.

Prov. Madre, que cosa es casar? Hija bilar, parir, y llorar, Mother, what is it to marry? Daughter, to spin, to bring forth Children, and to weep. The Daughter asks her Mother what Matrimony is; she gives her this dismal Account, that it is no other but Labour, bearing of Children, and Trouble. These are the Words of of some unfortunate Wife, who spoke of Matrimony, as perhaps she had found, and are us'd by such as have occasion to it.

Prov. Madre, casar, casar; que Carrapico me quiere llevar, Mother, marry me, marry me, for the Gull will carry me away. Carrapico is a Sea Gull, and metaphorically, any Stranger that haunts a place. The Daughter advises advises her Mother to marry her off quickly, for fear the Stranger carry her away; to let her know she is in haste for a Husband, and if not soon marry'd, she shall run away with the next that asks her. Applicable to young Girls that are too forward.

Prov. Bién cuenta la Madre, mejor cuenta el infante, The Mother reckons well, but the Child reckons better; for the Mother is often mistaken in her account of going with Child, but the Infant will be born at its due time.

Prov. La madre, y la hija por dar y tomar son amigas, The Mother and the Daughter are Friends by giving and taking, that is, they love one another for what they get of one another. Apply'd to those who entertain Friendship only for Interest, which has so far prevail'd, that even many Parents and their Children have no other mutual Affection, but for what they get of one another.

Prov. La buena Madre no dice quieres, A good Mother does not say will you have this, that is, good generous People, if they design to give any thing, must not ask whether they will have it, but give without asking.

Prov. Madre, y hija visten una camisa, The Mother and the Daughter wear, the same Shift, that is, they are both alike, they have both the same Qualities, signify'd by the Shift that is next to them. Or as we say, Like Mother, like Daughter; like Master, like Man.

Prov. Madre no viste, padre no tuviste, diablo te biziste, You saw no Mother, you had no Father, and you became a Devil. A Saying of Bastards, who sometimes never see their Mothers, being put out to nurse as soon as born, to save Reputation, and never know their Father, who is ashamed to own them; and therefore having no Parents to breed them up, their Education is lewd, and they become Devils.

Prov. Madre Ardua haze hija tullida, A busy Mother makes a lame Daughter. When a Mother does every thing, and lets her Daughter sit idle, she makes her fit for nothing, which is as bad as being lame. The same is said of Masters who keep idle Servants, and do their Business themselves; and of Masters who ask their Scholars Questions, and answer themselves.

Prov. Madre piadosa cria hija merdosa, A tender Mother breeds a nasty Daughter, because, when she is an Infant, she will not wash and clean her for fear she should cry, and when grown up, she will not suffer her to put her hand to any thing, and by that means she grows lazy, and consequently a Slut.

Prov. Quien tiene Madre muérase tarde, May he who has a Mother be long before he loses her, because Mothers are most tender in their Affections, and always studying their Childrens good, therefore the Proverb wishes them long Life for the benefit of their Children.

Prov. Trasgreda porque no sepa a la madre, Rack her off that she may not taste of the Mother. This Advice, one young Man gave to another who had complain'd to him that his Wife had many ill Habits which she had learn'd of her Mother. The Husband understood it not, till one day he saw him rack off his Wines, and turn them out of one Cask into another, still leaving the Lees behind, when perceiving his meaning, he went home and remov'd house far from his Wife's Mother and Acquaintance, and then found he could manage her, and she soon forgot all the Ill her Mother and others taught her. It is good Advice in general to remove all Youth from that Company that teaches them any Ill.

Prov. Váse mi Madre, malaya quien mas bilare o puta sea quien mas bilare. My Mother is going, a Curse on her that will spin any longer. Or may she be a Whore who spins any longer. This they say to such as will not work or mind Business any longer than there are Eyes over them.

Prov. Quien madre tiene en villa, siete veces se amortece cada día. She that has a Mother in the Town swoons away Seven times a day. This they say of lazy Wenches, who are put out to Service, and pretend Sickness and fainting Fits that their Mothers may take them home; and of impertinent young Wives, who when their Husbands displease them pretend Indisposition, that their Mothers may be sent for.

Prov. Quien no tiene madre, no tiene quien le lave, o le alabe. He who has no Mother has no Body to wash him, or praise him. This is only to denote the great Tenderness of Mothers, for no Body does so praise, or serve Children as good Mothers do.

Magney, is the Tree of Wonders, for it yields Water, Wine, Oyl, Vinegar, Honey, a sort of Must like that of New Wine boyl'd, Thread and Needles, besides many other things. It is therefore much valu'd in New-Spain, and grows Wild, and is also cultivated. The Leaves of it are broad and coarse, ending in a sharp, strong Point, which serves either for a Pin, or to sew with, and this is the Needle; and from the Leaf they draw out Threads, which are its Fibres. The Body or Trunk of the Tree being large, when it is young and tender, they cut a Hollow in it, to which the Sap or Moisture rises from the Root, and this they drink instead of Water, being cool and sweet; this Liqueur boyl'd, is like Wine, letting it four, it serves for Vinegar. Being boyl'd to a Consistence it is Honey, and half boyl'd it is like the Must above mention'd, well tasted and wholesome, and in my opinion better than that which is made of Grapes. So that according as they boyl it there comes from it several sorts of Liqueurs, and the Quantity the Tree yields is great, as several Quarts every Day for some time. The Wood of this Tree is spongy, and serves to keep Fire a long time like the Match us'd by Soldiers. F. Jof. Acos. Nat. Hist. W. Ind. lib. 4. chap. 23. pag. 254.

Maná, Manna, which the Israelites fed on in the Desert.

Maná, the kind, easy, and medicinal Manna found in the Province of Uzbek in Persia, and thence sent to Ormuz, and all over India. There are five sorts of it in those Parts, one white, small, in Grains like Comfits, and sweet as Honey, and this, some say, is a Dew that falls on those Trees, whence they gather it, and they keep it in Glass-Vessels well stopp'd from the Air. Others say, it is a Gum coming from the same Tree. Another sort, they say, grows on Thistles, whence they draw it, beating them with Staves; it is of a ruddy Colour, and of the bigness of a Coriander-Seed. This, some think to be the Fruit, others, the Gum of those Thistles; and the Perfians reckon it better and wholsomer than the other. The third sort is in bigger pieces, and mix'd with some Leaves, white, and like the Manna of Calabria, this most us'd, and dearest. Another sort is sold about India, liquid in Skins and Pots, like white Honey, but soon decays. All these purge with ease, and without danger. Another sort in bits bigger than that of Calabria, and not white, is sold at Ormaiz, and in several Parts of India. This purges more violently, and therefore the common sort reckon it the better, as also because it is cheaper; but this is a Composition: It is so safe a Medicine, that it is given to Children, and Women with Child. *Christ. Marido, an Husband. Lat. Maritus.

Prov. Marido, no creas lo que viéredes, sino lo que yo os dixere, Husband don't believe what you see, but what I tell you. This is generally apply'd to those who would persuade others out of their Knowledge, and what they actually see. As an ill Woman, who, tho her Husband discovers her ill Courses, would not have him believe his own Eyes, but give credit to her Insinuations.

Prov. Por si, o por no Marido señor, ponéos la capilla, Whether it be so or no, Husband, pull on your Hood. A Husband told his Wife that there was a new Law that every Cuckold should wear a Hood to hide his Horns, under severe Penalties, and therefore desir'd to know whether he had any occasion to wear one. The Wife seem'd very angry at the Question, and as he repeated it, still chid him for his Mistrust; but as he was going out, for fear of the Penalty, she call'd after him, bidding him, whether he was so or no, to put on his Hood. This is Advice, in doubtful Cases, ever to take that course which is safest.

Prov. Pensé que no tenía marido, y comíme la olla, I thought I had no Husband, and I eat up the meat. They say, A Country-woman having dress'd the meat for her Husband that was at work, because he stay'd later than ordinary, fell to and eat it up. He coming when she had done, and asking her what she meant, she answer'd, she thought she had no Husband, and eat up the Meat. This is apply'd to all that commit great Faults, and then make foolish Excuses, saying, I thought, or I did not think, and therefore we say, Thought lay abed and beshit himself.

Prov. Por mas que me digades, mi Marido es el pastor, Say what you will, the Shepherd is my Husband. A good VWoman VVife to a Shepherd heard her Neighbour talk ill of all Shepherds, and call her by way of Contempt the Shepherd's VVife, and she not valuing their ill Tongues, still answer'd, Say what you will, the Shepherd is my Husband. This shows, that whatsoever ill Tongues can say, no VVife should be ashamed of her Husband, nor no Man of his Profession, and that nothing can divide those whom a Faithful Love has united.

Prov. Mi Marido va a la mar chíelos mirlos a buscar, My Husband goes to Sea seek Chirlos mirlos, a fram'd VVord to signify nothing, or what is nothing to the purpose. Apply'd to those who live idle, and range about from place to place to bring home nothing but idle Stories and Lyes.

Prov. Al Marido malo cegallo, con las gallinas de par del gallo, Blind a bad Husband with the Hens that run with the Cock. Hens, or Pullets signify good Feeding, and therefore a VWoman is advis'd, if she has a bad Husband, to make so much of him, and be so kind, that he may see no no Faults, and that will make him good. Or in another sense, If the VVife is false to her Husband, she is advis'd to be very loving to him, that he may not discover her business.

Prov. Quién no muda, Marido no medra vestido, She that does not change Husbands, does not improve in Cloaths. A Saying of VWomen, who, having been ill us'd by their first Husbands, live well with a second. It is also us'd by lewd VWomen, who call their Gallants Husbands, and changing them often, get variety of Garments. Apply'd in another sense to those who thrive by removing from one place to another, or leaving an Employment for a better.

Prov. Prométem Marido, y quítan vestido, They promise a Husband, and take away Cloaths. A Maid was taken into Service upon promise to marry her after such a Term as was agreed on, which when expir'd, instead of finding her Husband, they took away some of the Cloaths they had given her, whereupon she utters this Proverb, which is apply'd to all those who promise mighty Favours, and at the same time take something from those they were to assist.

Prov. Marido tras del lar, mal de bijar, A Husband by the Fire-side is as bad as a pain in the Side, that is, It is a great Affliction to a VVife to see her Husband sitting in the Chimney-corner, when he should be abroad following his Business and providing for his Family.

Prov. Así es el Marido sin becho, como casa sin techo, A Husband without Action is like a House without a Roof. By Action is meant the conjugal Duty, or paying the Marriage-Debt; for if that be not perform'd, the end of Matrimony fails, even as a House is of no use that has no Roof.

Prov. Al tu Marido, o esposo muéstrate, mas no del todo, Show your self to your Husband or Spouse, but not altogether, that is, Be not coy to your Husband, or too precise, but at the same time do not forget Modesty.

Prov. Comé Marido pan, y cebolla, que porqué seys ruyñ no os pongo olla, Husband, eat Bread and Onion, for I don't hang on the Pot because you are a base Fellow. This, they say, a Country-woman us'd to say to her Husband, providing no better for him to eat, because he did not answer her expectation. And in these terms a Husband upbraids his VVife, when he finds she does not take care to have his Meat dress'd whilst he is abroad about his business.

Prov. Andando, y hablando Marido a la borca, Walking and Talking on Husband to the Gallows. They say, A Woman walking by her Husband as he was going to the Gallows to be hang'd, he talk'd to her by the way, and sometimes stood to inculcate something to her. The Good-woman, who had a mind to be rid of him, every time he stopp'd, us'd the Words of this Proverb, meaning that he might talk and walk on to the Gallows. It is apply'd to any that wish another dead, or hasten him on to his Ruin.

Prov. Al marido sirvelo como a Señor, y guárdase del como de un traydor. Serve your Husband as your Lord, and be as cautious of him as you wou'd be of a Traytor; that is, honour and obey your Husband, as you are enjoyn'd in Matrimony, and at the same time be as cautious of offending him, as if he were the most dangerous Traitor.

Prov. A la que su Marido en-cornúda, Señor, y le ayuda. Lord do you help her that cuckold's her Husband. It does not mean that God should help her in her Wickedness, but that God would protect her Life, which is in such imminent Danger, it being a thing too frequent in Spain, for Husbands to kill their Wives when they take them in Adultery.

Prov. El Marido antes con un ojo, que con un hijo. A Husband rather with one Eye, than with a Son. It is Advice to Women rather to choose a Husband that has but one Eye, than the compleatest Man that has a Son already.

Prov. Esperando Marido caballero, dame las tetas abajo del pecho. Waiting for a Gentleman for a Husband, my Breasts hang below my Stomach. The Complaint of a Woman, who looking for a Husband above her, was grown old; signified by her Breasts hanging down. A Misfortune we see often enough among those who fear too high, and because they cannot get what is above them, pretend they will not marry. It is apply'd to all that slip the time of providing for themselves according to their Rank, by aspiring to those things that are above them.

Prov. La que mal Marido viene en el tocado se le parece. She that has an ill Husband shows it in her Dress. Because generally Women that have ill Husbands live discontented, and do not care to take the Pains to dress themselves.

Prov. Marido cornúdo sodes. Mejor es que inchár odres. Husband you are a Cuckold. It is better than filling of Skins. A poor Fellow that dress'd Hog-skins to carry Wine in, having a handsome Wife, neglected his Trade, and she got their Living as she could, which he consented to; whereupon she took the Freedom to tell him he was a Cuckold, and he answers, It is better be a Cuckold and live at Ease, than to work at such a poor Trade. Apply'd to such Men as value not Honour or Conscience, so they live idly.

Prov. Marido, y muger, compañía sin bien. Husband and Wife unhappy Company. This they say is so if they have no Children nor Servants; because Children are the End of Matrimony, and if they have no Servants they must be forc'd to serve themselves, which sometimes causes Uneasiness. But Proverbs are not always infallible, for many live happier without Servants than some that have many, and Children do not always prove a Blessing.

Prov. Llevad vos Marido la artesa, &c. Vid. Artesa.

Prov. He aquí Marido como nos perdemos, tu para poco, y yo para menos. Thus it is, we are ruin'd Husband, because you are good for little, and I for less. Said when two People meet, who are fit for no Business, and all things go to rack between them.

along the Sea Shore in the Night to seek it. This Beast is much dreaded, not for any Hurt it does with either Teeth or Claws, but because of its wonderful Stink, which is so hurtful and venomous, that it pierces Stones and Trees, and kills Men and Beasts. This Stink lasts Fifteen or Twenty Days, and sometimes longer, so that the Indians are forc'd to forsake their Villages when this Beast comes too near them.

They sow it Grain by Grain, and not scattering, as we do our Wheat, and it requires a hot and moist Soil. There are two sorts of it, one large and substantial, the other small and dry, which they call Morocha.

The Leaves of it and the Reed are very good Food for Cattle, green; and dry it serves as well as Straw. The Grain is better for Beasts than Barley, but they must drink before they eat it, for if they drink after; it swells and gives them the Gripes. The Indians eat it hot boil'd, and call it More, and sometimes tosted. There is a sort of it large and round, which the Spaniards eat tosted; they also grind it and make Cakes, which they eat hot; and these, in some places, they call Arepas; they also make Bread to keep and sweet Cakes of it. Medina, the name of several Towns in Spain, signifying in Arabick a chief City, or Metropolis.

Medina celi, a Town in the Kingdom of Old Castile, in Spain, 4 Leagues from Sigüenza, seated on a high Hill, not far from the Source of the River Xalón, it has strong ancient Walls, and a Castle of the same sort, as also a noble Palace for its Dukes, its Territory abounds in Game, all sorts of Cattle, Fowl and Corn. Its Inhabitants are not above 300, under one Collegiate Parish with a miter'd Abbot; it was formerly call'd Ecclesia, Augustobriga, Mediolum, and Secunia vetus; it stands on a Hill near the River Xalón, 31 Leagues North-East of Madrid, and 34 South-West from Zaragoza. King Henry the II. of Castile made it an Earldom and a Dukedom by Ferdinand and Isabel, King and Queen of Castile and Aragon. Both these Titles came successively to the most illustrious Family of la Cerda, in whom the Dukedom still continues. These Dukes are descended from Ferdinand Son and rightful Heir to Alonso the X. King of Castile, but unjustly put by his Right by his Uncle Sancho the IV. who usurp'd the Crown and left it to his Heirs. Prince Ferdinand took the name of la Cerda from some Bristly Hair he had on his Breast, Cerdas in Spanish signifying Bristles. Elizabeth de la Cerda Heiress of this noble Family was marry'd to Mosen Bernard Earl of Bearne and Faux, from whom the present Dukes of Medinaceli are descended, being one of the noblest Families in the World, as lawfully descended from the ancient Kings of Spain on the one side, and from the illustrious Family of Faux on the other. His Estate is suitable to his Nobility, being valu'd at near 80000 Pounds per Annum, his Arms quarterly, the 1st and 4th Party per pale of Castile and Leon, the 2d and 3d of France.

King John the II. of Castile erected it into a Dukedom in the Year 1445, conferring that Title on D. John Alonso de Guzman, III. Earl of Niebla, in whose Issue it continues to this time. The Family of Guzman is of ancient and great Nobility; some will have it to be descended from Gundemarus King of the Goths, others from Gurban King of Britany in France; and indeed its Antiquity is singular; but this we have for certain, that it descends lineally from the famous famous Alonso Perez de Guzman, who about the Year 1292, defended Tarifa with the utmost Bravery against the Moors; who because he would not surrender, murder'd his Son before his Face, for which he had the Sir-Name of el Bueno, or the Good given him, which his Issue still keep up. His Grandson was created Earl of Niebla, by King Henry II. of Castile; and the Earl's Grandson, Duke of Medina Sidonia, by King John II. Their Estate is suitable to their Nobility, being valu'd at 60000 Pounds per Annum; their Arms, Pari per Salier, in Chief and Base Azure, a Kettle Checkie, Or and Sanguine; with Three Snakes sticking out on each Side the Handle; the dexter and sinister Sides Argent, with Five Black Spots of Ermin; the whole within an Orle of Castile and Leon. The Situation of the Town is on a steep Hill, very strong by Nature; but the Territory about it is for the most part Rich Pasture; the Inhabitants amount to about 1500; 2 Parishes, 4 Monasteries of Friars, and 1 of Nuns.

Medina de Rio seco, a City in the Kingdom of Leon, in Spain, seated in a large Plain, hemm'd in with Mountains. It is a rich and well serv'd City. Mozarabes; so they call'd the Christians that liv'd amongst the Moors, after Spain was conquer'd by them. Corruptly from Mixii Arabes. Thence, Officio, y Missa Moza-rabe, the Office and Mass of the Mixii Arabes. Before the Conquest by the Moors, they us'd to say the Divine Office, and Mass in Spain, according to the most ancient Manner, which, they afterwards continu'd, as living among Infidels, when the Ceremonies had been otherwise regulated by the Church: And when

Toledo

Tolido was taken by the Christians, the Inhabitants obtain'd Leave to continue the Old Custom in a Chappel particularly assign'd for that Use in the great Church, which they do to this Day. And the Office and Mass after that manner, is call'd Mozarabe, and the Chappel allotted for it, Capilla de los Mozarabes.

Muermo, a Cold in any Beast, which makes them breath hard and snort; the snuffing, or snorting of a Dog.

Muermofo, troubled with a Cold, snuffing, or snorting.

Muerte, Death. Lat. Mors.

Prov. Muerte de suegra, dolor de codo, que duele mucho y dura poco. The Death of a Mother-in-law, that is the Wives, or the Husband's Mother, is like the Pain of an Elbow, which is very sharp, and lasts little. Because in Spain they have no good Conceit of those Mothers by Affinity, and therefore they say it looks like a great Pain, but is soon over.

Prov. A la muerte de mi marido, poca cera, y mucho pavilo. At my Husband's Death little Wax, and much Snuff. Alluding to the Wax-lights they carry at Funerals. The Saying of a Woman that would be rid of her Husband at the cheapest rate, allowing the worst of every thing for his Funerals.

Prov. Por muerte de hijos no se despidra la casa. The House is not unfurnish'd for the Death of Children. Because whilst the Father and Mother live, they commonly keep House tho' Children dye.

Prov. A la muerte no ay cosa fuerte. Nothing is strong against Death. Or there is no Remedy against Death.

Prov. Quien da lo que tiene antes de la muerte, mercede que le den con un mazo en la frente. He who gives away what he has before his Death, deserves to be knock'd on the Head with a Mallet; that is, he is not fit to live, since we see so many who have come to want by giving what they had to their own Children, who have barbarously forsaken them.

Prov. Guay de la muerte, que no toma presente. Alas for Death! which takes no Present; that is, will not be brib'd.

Prov. Mas vale del dexar en la muerte al enemigo, que pedir en la vida al amigo. It is better at ones Death to leave to an Enemy, than in ones Life to ask of a Friend.

Prov. En la muerte del asno no pierde nada el lobo. The Wolf is no Loser by the Ass's Death. Because commonly the Wolves eat him. Sharpers are commonly the better for the Death of foolish Misers, who have labour'd hard all their Life time to acquire Wealth.

Muerto, Dead. Lat. Mortuus.

Prov. Quien con muertos se sueña, con vivos se halla. He who dreams of the Dead, finds himself among the Living. To signify that there is no minding Dreams, for when a Man awakes he finds nothing of them.

Muesca, a Notch, a Dent, a Scotch in any thing. Arab.

Mueve, Muevo. Vid. Mover.

Muevedo, a clownish, country Word for a Woman miscarrying.

Mufa, a concave thing, like half a Bowl, which serves to cover the Refiners Furnace, having a hollow Tunnel, or Neck to it, through which the crucibles are put down into the Furnace to essay Silver or Gold.

Muffir, In Cam, to eat.

Muger, a Woman. Lat. Mulier.

Muger de su casa, a good Huswife.

Muger de gusto, a Lady of Pleasure.

Muger de punto, a Woman that stands upon her Honour.

Tomar la muger en cueros. To take a Woman naked. We say, to take her in her Smock.

Prov. A la muger baylar, y al asno rebuznar, el diablo se lo devio de mostrar. It was surely the Devil taught Woman to dance, and the Ass to bray. Because the Consequences of Dancing are often so scandalous, and an Ass's Braying so odious.

Prov. De tu muger, y de tu amigo experto, no creas sino lo que supieres de cierto. Do not believe any thing of your Wife, and of a try'd Friend, but what you are sure of. Good Advice not to credit idle Reports, or vile Whisperers, who endeavour to sow Discord between Friends, and married People.

Prov. A la muger casta, Dios le basta. God is sufficient for a chaste Woman. Other Women put their Confidence in their Friends or their Wealth, or other worldly Dependances, but a chaste, virtuous Woman, may put her Trust in God, who will provide for, and reward her. An Encouragement to good Women, who are destitute of worldly Helps.

Prov. Al que tiene muger hermosa, o castillo en frontera, o vna en carrera, nunca le falta guerra. He that has a beautiful Wife, or a Castle on the Frontiers, or a Vineyard on the Road, is never without War; that is, has always Quarrels. The beautiful Wife the Proverb supposes will be sought after by others, which will make her Husband jealous, and then Quarrels ensue; a Castle on Frontiers, is always expos'd to the Enemy, and a Vineyard by the Highway is subject to be pull'd by all that pass, which the Owner cannot bear patiently.

Prov. A la muger mala poco le aprovecha guarda. It is to little purpose to watch a wicked Woman. This Proverb serves all Men, for if they have good Wives there is no need of watching them, and if they are bad, the Devil will instruct them how to be too hard for their Husbands.

Prov. Aunque con tu muger tengas barajas, no metas en tu casa pajas. Tho you quarrel with your Wife, do not bring Straw unto your House; that is, do not keep Servants that carry Tales backwards and forwards, or admit any others to be any ways concern'd between you, for that is like bringing Straw into the House, which will soon take Fire, and raise a Conflagration that cannot be quench'd.

Prov.

Prov. Al que yó bien quiera, la muger se le muera, la mala, que no la buena. The Man that I love may his Wife dye, the bad one, but not the good one. A friendly Wish that a Man may be rid of an ill Wife, since there is no way but Death to part them.

Prov. Con la muger y el dinero, no se búrles compañero. Do not jest with a Wife and Money. It does not mean that a Man shou'd not be easie with his Wife so as to jest with her, but that he should not as some do, utter leud jests of her abroad, which is below a Man of Honour, and expose her to Contempt; and in another Sense that none should presume to jest upon another Man's Wife; but that a Wife and Money ought both to be chearily kept; for as we say, It is ill jesting with edg'd Tools.

Prov. A la muger, y a la gallina, tuércele el cuélllo, y dárte ba la vida. Wring your Wives and your Fowls Neck and they will give you Life; that is, wring the Neck of your Fowl, which eaten, is good Nourishment, and correct your Wife if she deserves it, which will make you easie, and that will give you Life; for good Nourishment and living easie make a Man live long.

Prov. A la muger y a la Picaça, lo que viéres en la pláça. To a Woman and a Magpye, what you see in the Market-place; that is, tell Women and Magpies nothing but what is publick, or may be so, and do not entrust them with any Secrets, least they reveal them.

Prov. A quién tiene mala muger ningún bien le puede venir, que bien se pueda desir. He that has a bad Wife can have no good befall him that can be call'd good. Because his Misfortune is so great in having an ill Wife, that no Happiness can any way mitigate it, but his greatest Prosperity is drowned under his Affliction. And therefore follows the same Proverb reyers'd.

Prov. A quién tiene buena muger, ningún mal le puede venir, que no sea de sufrir. He that has a good Wife can have no ill befall him but what is tolerable. Because a good Wife alleviates all Sorrows, and helps a Man to bear a Part of them.

Prov. A la muger ventanera, tuércele el cuélllo, si la quieres buena. Wring a Womans Neck that loves gazing at the Windows, if you would make her good for any thing. These Proverbs are not to be taken in the literal Sense, for it is not here meant that a Woman should be murder'd for looking out of a Window, but that she should be corrected and reprov'd, and broke of it, when she is always gadding and gazing abroad, so as to neglect her Household Affairs, or give Scandal.

Prov. El que no tiene muger, cada dia la mata, mas el que la tiene, bien se la guarda. He that has no Wife kills her every Day, but he that has, takes good care of her. We see daily Men very fierce before they are married, and threaten how they will rule and command their Wives, who when they have them, commonly prove the tamest Husbands. We say not unlike it, Maids Children and Batchelors Wives, are well govern'd.

Prov. A la muger brava, dále la soga larga. Give an unruly Woman much Rope; that is, do not let her go, but give her time to play, as you do with a Trout, and then take her up. We say, Give her Rope enough and she'll hang her self. Some take this Rope in another Sense, and say that a New-married Woman fell a scolding so violently, that her Husband was for the present, forc'd to get out of the House till the Storm was over. When he came home, the Wife being cool, begg'd his Pardon, alledging, it was in her Nature, and she could not forbear scolding, but her Passion was soon over. Then he took a good Rope's End, and gave her plentiful Correction, which done, he begg'd her Pardon, pleading, it was his unhappy Temper so to do, but when it was over, he should be as tame as an Ass. This some say, is giving a Wife Rope enough.

Prov. A la muger casada, no le des de la barba. Do not nod your Head to a married Woman; that is, do not make private Signs and Tokens to allure her, for when you least think of it, her Husband may be in Sight, and revenge the Wrong that threatens him.

Prov. La muger en casa, y la pierna quebrada. A Woman at Home and her Leg broken; that is, Women ought to keep Home, as if their Legs were broken, and not to be continually gadding, for nothing is more scandalous than to see a Woman always ranging the Streets.

Prov. La muger quinquena, y el hombre de treinta. The Woman at Fifteen, the Man at Thirty; that is, they should marry at those Years, and this not on account of the common mistaken Notion, that Spanish Women will not bear Children if they marry late, for then the Husbands ought to marry younger, for it is certain they can get Children sooner. But the reason is, because when the Wife is so young, the Husband may mould her to his Mind, and teach her to comply with him, and submit to his Will, which is not so well done when Women are more in Years; and the Man at Thirty is grown more stay'd, riper in Judgment, and fitter to rule his Family.

Prov. La muger y la salsa, a la mano de la lanza. The Wife and the Sauce on the Hand of the Lance; that is, place them on your Right Hand, which is the Hand that uses the Lance, the Wife to give her due Honour, and the Sauce that it may be readier for Use.

Prov. La primera muger escoba, y la segunda señora. The First Wife a Broom; that is, a Drudge, and the Second a Lady. This Proverb signifies that for the most part, he who uses his First Wife ill, and Lords it over her too much, meets with a Second Wife of a high Spirit, who plays the Lady, and keeps him as humble as he did the First Wife.

Prov. La muger del hidalgo, poca barrenda, y gran trenzado. A poor Gentleman's Wife has but a little Estate, and a great Role of Hair; that is, poor Gentry, tho they want many Conveniencies of Life, and even Cloaths, still endeavour to wear something that may distinguish them from the common sort, which in Spain, us'd formerly to be a great Head of Hair breaded.

Prov. La muger del ciego, para quién se afeya. For whom does the Blind Man's Wife paint, or dress herself up? It cannot be for him who cannot see her Ornaments, and therefore the Question is very proper, and may serve not only in case of a Blind Man, but in a Husband's Absence, and in other cases allegorically.

Prov. La muger del viejo relumbra como espejo. The Old Man's Wife shines like a Looking-glass; that is, Old Mens Young Wives are generally passionately belov'd by them, who take all the care in the World to please and pamper them, and therefore they thrive, living contented, and shine with gay Cloaths and Ornaments. This is the true Sense, but some Enemies to Women will have it to denote, That Old Mens Young Wives dress themselves as fine as they can to please Young Men.

Prov. La muger del Escudero grande la bolsa y poco el dinero. The poor Squire's Wife has a great Purse and a little Money in it. This is applicable to all things that make much Show and are of little Value; and not unlike our Saying, like Shearing of Hogs, A great Cry and little Wooll.

Prov. La muger del viñadero, buen Otoño y mal invierno. The Keeper of Vineyard's Wife, has a good Autumn and a bad Winter. There are Men hir'd in Spain to look to the Vineyards, which lasts only during Autumn till the Vintage, and these are poor Fellows, who during that time can maintain their Wives with what is allow'd them, and a few Grapes they carry Home, but when Winter comes they are discharg'd, and then both Man and Wife in Winter must shift for another Livelyhood.

Prov. La muger del pastor, a la noche se compon. The Shepherd's Wife dresses herself at Night. Because her Husband is abroad all the Day with his Flock, and comes Home at Night, when his Wife dresses herself to receive him.

Prov. La muger ariera, el marido por delantera. A cunning VWoman puts her Husband before; that is, when ever she has a mind to refuse any thing she pleads her Husband will be angry, and so still alledging Obedience to her Husband, can offend no Body with her Refusal.

Prov. La muger casada en el monte es alvergada. A married VWoman finds Entertainment on a Mountain; that is, a virtuous, good VWoman is safe, tho she be expos'd on a Mountain, for even there, her Virtue will protect her, as if she were in the midst of a City.

Prov. La muger compuesta, a su marido quita de puerta ajena. A VVife that is dress'd draws her Husband from another Body's Door; that is, when a VWoman keeps herself clean and decently dress'd, her Husband does not run after other VWomen, but is pleas'd with her; not like some Sluts, who think it good Houfewifery to be nasty, and when reprov'd for it, say, they are married, as if there were no Regard to be had to a Husband when married; which is the reason that some Men loathing the Nastiness they always see at Home, cannot endure their House.

Prov. El que no tiene muger muchos ojos ha menester. He who has no VVife has need of many Eyes. Because he who has a VVife, has one he can confide in to look to all his Household Affairs, and take care he be not cheated by Servants or others; whereas he who has no VVife, has all the Care and Trouble upon himself.

Prov. La muger maridada, no viva descuidada. The married VWoman must not not lead a careless Life; it is her business to be watchful not only over her Husband's Honour, but over all his Household Affairs, and to take care that he does not suffer through her negligence.

Prov. La muger sea igual, o menor, si quiere ser señor. Your Wife must be your Equal, or Inferior, if you design to be Master. It is Advice to Men to marry their Equals, or else something below their degree, rather than above, because a Woman, who, by Birth, is much above her Husband, will not easily submit to him, but rather endeavour to keep him under as her Inferior.

Prov. La muger buena corona es del marido. A good Wife is her Husband's Crown, that is, A good Woman crowns all her Husband's Happiness. It is taken out of Scripture. Prov. 12.

Prov. Muéstrame tu muger, decirte he que marido tiene. Show me your Wife, and I'll tell you what a Husband she has. It is easy to guess by a Woman's Garb, Countenance, and Behaviour, how her Husband uses her.

Prov. Muger de cinco sueldos, marido de dos meajas. A Wife of five Sueldos, a Husband of two Meajas. A Sueldo was an antient Piece of Money worth 18 Maravedies; a Meaja was the smallest Piece of Money in Spain; therefore when they see the Wife very fine, and the Husband but poorly clad, they use this Proverb. As if we should say, A Wife of five Pounds, and a two-penny Husband.

Prov. Muger no te las cuento, mas doce morcillas haze un puercito. Wife, I don't reckon them to you, but a Hog makes twelve Puddings. It is the custom of Spain to make so many; neither more or less, when they kill a Hog. So this is telling a Woman that cannot give a good account of what she is entrusted with, that the Husband knows what there ought to be, tho he will not stand to call her to an account.

Prov. Muger casera, el marido se le muera. The VWoman that is a good House-keeper, may her Husband die. This is not a Prayer that a good VWoman should loose her Husband, but only shows that she is better to live, in case the Misfortune should befall her, than a gadding idle VWoman, who, if her Husband dies, knows not how to do any thing.

Prov. Ni muger de otro, ni cor de poto. Neither another Man's VVife, nor the Kick of a Colt, that is, It is as bad to have to do with another Man's as to receive a Kick of a Colt, and the danger is as great in following a marry'd VWoman, as in following a Colt that will kick.

Prov. No es brava la muger que cabe en casa. She is not an unruly VVife, if the House holds her. A Man complain'd to a Friend that his VVife was untoward and unruly, the Friend inquiring into the matter, found the VWoman liv'd very retir'd, and only reprov'd her Husband for neglecting his Business, whereupon he said to the Man the VVords of this Proverb, to signify that she was no untoward, turbulent VVife, who minded her business, and only chid him, because he did not.

Prov. No ay muger hermosa el día de la boda. No VWoman is beautiful on the VWedding-day. The meaning of it is, that all the VWomen at a VWedding are so adorn'd with rich Cloaths, painted and patch'd, that no Man can tell what natural Perfections they have; and therefore none can be call'd a Beauty but she that appears so without all these helps.

Prov. Para tu muger empreñar no debes a otro bisco. You must not look for another to get your VVife with Child. This is plain Doctrine enough, but it signifies that Men must not, as they say, some do, take Advice how to get their VVifes with Child, or consult Doctors, or Conjurers, for that which is only in themselves. But it is apply'd in any other case, to inform a Man that he must mind his own business, and not trust to others.

Prov. La muger y la uña, el hombre la haze garrida. The Man makes the Wife and Vineyard fine. The Vineyard must always be carefully prun'd, and look'd after, or else it will become like VVilderness, all Bushes; and so the VVife must be cherish'd and taken care of by the Husband, which will make her gay and pleasant, and consequently handsome and more taking.

Prov. Quien quisiere muger hermosa, el sábado la esdija. He that will have a beautiful VVife, must choose her on a Saturday, because on Saturdays they are generally undress'd, and if they then appear handsome, no doubt but they will be so much more when set off to the best advantage.

Prov. Quien mala muger cobra, fierro se torna. He who gets a bad VVife, becomes a Slave, that is, lives in Slavery, Trouble, Confusion and Disorder. Others say, Ciervo se torna, He becomes a Stag, if she cuckold him. The VVords are the same in speaking, and only vary one letter in writing.

Prov. La muger casera, nunca falta de parlara. The VWoman that is a great House-keeper never fails of being talkative, that is, VWomen who value themselves upon their great Housewifery, are always apt to prate more than others desire to hear; for there is no body in this VVorld without some Fault; and commonly those that have this good Quality, never cease tormenting every body with their Abilities; so that very often a Man had better have a VWoman that can do nothing, than endure the Plague of a VVife that is always talking of her Housewifery.

Prov. A la muger y a la mula, por el pico la hermosa. A Woman and a Mule must have their Beauty put in at their Mouths, that is, Nothing contributes more to make them beautiful than good keeping, for as no rich Furniture will make a poor Horse or Mule handsome, so no Cloaths, Painting, or Patching will make a Woman beautiful, but good Feeding makes her fair and comely, and puts better Colour into her Cheeks than all the Portuguese Dishes, or Spanish Wool.

Prov. A la muger primeriza, antes se le parece la preñez en el pecho, que en la barriga. The Woman that is with Child the first time shews it in her Breasts before her Belly, because their Breasts are apt to rise and swell before their Belly grows big.

Prov. A la muger loca mas le agrada el pandero que la toca. A mad Woman is better pleas'd with a Pandero than with her Head-cloaths. A Pandero is a scurvy Instrument in Spain, us'd by the meaner sort, being only two pieces of Parchment stretch'd on a Hoop with Horse-bells between, which they hold in one Hand, and beat with the other to make a hideous noise to dance to. The Proverb signifies, that mad Women had rather be dancing and ranting than minding their business; and this is apply'd to any that neglect their Duty for their pleasure.

Prov. A la muger casta, pobreza le haze bazer feez. Poverty obliges a chaste Woman to do a shameful thing. Want has such force, that it overcomes all things, and therefore no wonder, if sometimes it prevails on Women, otherwise chaste, to expose themselves for the necessary Supports of Life.

Prov. Compuesta no ay muger fea. When dress'd, no Woman is ugly. This only means, that fine Feathers make fine Birds; and perhaps it signifies, that all Women fancy themselves handsome when dress'd, or at best, that some body likes them then. Some Faces are so bad, that all the Dressing in the world can never make them tolerable, but only Vertue, which is the best of Ornaments.

Prov. En el andar, y en el beber, se conoce la muger. A Woman is known by her going and drinking, that is, You may guess at a Woman by her going, viz. by her going much or little, if she is given to gadding and rambling, and to drinking, you may be sure, she is good for nothing; but if she loves home, and is a Friend to Sobriety, they are very good Tokens.

Prov. La muger que poco vela, tarde haze lengua tela. The Woman that watches little is a long time making a long Web. This is apply'd to all Persons who would compass great matters with little labour, or application.

Prov. La muger mala, cauta, y no infamada. An ill Woman must be cautious, and she'll not be infamous, that is, If Women that will be bad, would but be cautious of exposing themselves too openly, they might at least save themselves the infamy of a bad Name, and would do less harm in not giving so much Scandal to others.

Prov. La muger y la gallina, por andar se pierde ayna. The Woman and the Hen are lost by gadding. A Hen, when it once strays from home, is soon lost: And so a Woman, when she gives her self to much gadding and company, seldom fails of being lost in her Reputation, for few have fortitude enough to withstand the Temptations they run themselves into.

Prov. La muger loca por la lista compra la toca. A hair-brain'd Woman buys the Head-cloaths by the List, that is, By the Lace, or little Ornament about them, without minding whether they are good or bad. The same may be said of all who suffer themselves to be impos'd upon in the main, by only regarding frivolous Additions, as he who buys an ill House for the sake of a handsome Front, a faulty Garment for a little Embroidery, an ill Book for its good binding, or takes a bad Wife for a good Portion.

Prov. La muger algarera nunca haze larga tela. A scolding, or a prating Woman never makes a long Web, that is, Such sort of Women are never at leisure to mind their business, their Tongues take up all their time, and the Work is laid aside to prate.

Prov. La muger placera dice de todos, y todos della. The Woman that haunts the Market, has something to say of every body, and every body of her, which is no more, than that a Woman, who is always abroad, is ever railing railing at her Neighbours, and finding Faults, and consequently they have all enough to say of her.

Prov. La muger que cria, ni barta ni limpi. A Woman that suckles is neither satisfy'd, nor clean. Nurses are apt to have good Stomachs, and are often hungry, besides they cannot be well dress'd, and are always cleaning the Children, which makes them not very clean themselves. This Proverb is applicable to all those who are so intent upon whatsoever they have in hand, that they forget to take the necessary care of themselves, as particularly in some Scholars, who involve themselves so deeply in their Books, that they neglect all Decency in their Persons, and even sometimes forget they are to eat.

Prov. De mala muger te guarda, y de la buena no fies nada. Take heed of an ill Woman, and trust a good one with nothing. This is a general Advice to be cautious of Women, to have nothing to do with the bad ones, and not confide too much in good ones, because of the danger there is that they may be deluded.

Prov. La muger, y el Frayle mal parecen en la calle. Women and Friars look ill in the street, that is, they ought not to be seen there any more than is necessary; they ought to live retir'd.

Prov. La muger vieja, si no sirve de olla, sirve de cobertera. An old Woman, if she does not serve for a Pot, serves for a Pot-lid, that is, If a Woman be too old to be lewd, she will serve to be a Bawd.

Prov. La muger hermosa, o loca, o presumida. A beautiful Woman is either mad, or haughty. This needs little expounding; it is but too natural for Women to be proud and conceited of a little Beauty, and very often their Pride to swell to such a degree, that it makes them mad.

Prov. La muger y el vidrio siempre están en peligro. A Woman and a Glass are always in danger, the Glass oft being broken, and the Woman oft being deluded by the false Oaths and Promises of Men.

Prov. La muger, y el vino sacan al hombre de vino. Women and Wine put Man out of his Wits. Little need be said of this, where we daily see the Effects of Drunkenness, and how many Men commit the greatest of Follies and Extravagancies on the account of Women. The fault is neither in the Wine, nor the Women, but in the Men, who have no government of themselves.

Prov. La muger negra vementina en ella. There is Turpentine in a black Woman. The meaning of it is, That black Women are sound, healthy, and sweet.

Prov. Muger labradora puta, o cantonera. A Needle-woman is either a Whore, or a Thief. This is rather a Reflection on those who employ them, than those unfortunate Women; for it signifies, that they get so little for their Work, that it will not give them Bread, and therefore they are forc'd either to be Whores, or Thieves.

Prov. Muger, viento, y ventura presto se muda. Woman, Wind, and Fortune soon change; there is no relying on them; for as we see nothing more fickle than the VVind, so nothing can be more uncertain than Fortune; and VVomen in all Countries have the ill Fate to be compar'd to the VVind.

Prov. No ruegues a muger en cama, ni a la caddo en el agua. Do not intreat a VVoman in Bed, nor a Horse in the VVater. Nuêva Francia, New France, A great part of north America, on both sides the great River Canada, reaching from 40 degrees of north-latitude to 55, but a great part of it lies up the Inland, upon the back of Virginia, and New-England. It is in the Possession of the French, who have many Colonies and Forts there, and a very great Trade for Furs.

Nuêva Galicia, New Galicia, a Province of North America, otherwise call'd Guadalajara, from its capital City of that name, and by another name, Xalisco from the principal District in it. On the East and North, it is divided from New Spain, by the Morals of Chiapala; and on the West, it extends to the Sea of California; towards the North and North-West, its Bounds are not settled as running out among the savage Nations. The Part inhabited by the Spaniards extends about 300 Leagues in length, and 100 in breadth. Under this Government are the Provinces of Guadalajara, Xalisco, Zacatecas, Chiamela, Culucan, Cinaloa, Nuêva Biscaya, and the Frontiers of California, Quivira, and New Mexico. The Climate is temperate and serene, yet subject to Thunder and Earthquakes; the Land more mountainous than plain, and has rich Mines of Silver and Copper, but none found as yet of Gold.

It grows best in Banda, such as Maluco and Celon produce, being leis, and not valu'd. The outward Rind is fleshy and hard, which the Natives eat with Salt and Vinegar, and is of a pleasant aromatick taste. The Portugueses preserve the whole Nutmeg before it is full ripe. The Nut is much us'd by the Brachman Physicians for all cold Distempers in the Brain, for the Palsy, and other Distempers that effect the Nerves, and for Diseases in the Matrix. The outward Rind when thorough ripe, is taken off, and is the Spice we commonly call Mace, which is hot and dry in the third Degree, it is believ'd that the ancients knew neither the Mace, nor Nutmeg. In Banda they call the Nutmeg Pali, in Arabick Iauriband, in Latin Nux Myrsitica, or Nux Moscata, in Italian Noce Moscata, in French Nois Muscade, and in Portugues Nos Moscada. Nutmeg corrects and cures a stinking Breath, clears the Eye-sight, comforts the Stomach, digests Meats, and expels Wind; strengthens the Liver and Milt, and provokes Urine. Christ. Acosta, Nat. Hist. East. Ind.

Núezes en garcecladas, Many are of opinion these are the same sort of Walnuts we have in Europe, and that if transplanted, they would come to good; whereas, as they now grow wild, there is scarce any coming at the Kernel, and therefore they call them encarceladas, that is, imprison'd. F. Jof. Acost. Nat. Hist. W. Ind. Lib. 4. cap. 26. p. 258.

Plata, Silver. The Metal next in value to Gold. It is generally found in Mines on stony desert Mountains, tho' some little has been found in the plain. There are two sorts of Veins, one whereof they call loose, the other fixt. The loose are only pieces of Oar found in some chance place, which once taken away there is no more. The fix'd Veins, or those which spread out every way in depth, and on all sides, like the Body of a Tree and its Branches. The Indian way of Refining the Oar was by melting, which makes the Metal run one way, and the Dross another. To this purpose at Potosi they made little Earthen Fire-pans, which they call Ghuairas, with holes all round them, on which they plac'd the Crucible, and setting these Pans on the tops of the Mountains, the Wind that blows there constantly melted the Oar, which could not be made to run with any Bellows whatsoever. The Silver of the Mines of Porco runs better with Bellows. But the Method most in use now is to separate the Silver from the Dross with Quick-silver, thus: They pound the Oar to Dust in Mills, and sift it as we do Rubbish to make Mortar. Then they steep that fine Dust in Brine made of Salt, that the Salt may loosen the Earth from the Metal. Then through a fine Cloth they squeeze the Quick-silver out upon that Mass, so that it falls like a Dew, which they work up, mould, and incorporate with it. Thus it us'd to lye together, and was moulded over several times for 20 Days, till the Quick-silver had wrought its Effect; but now making Fires in Vaults under it, they find it is prepar'd in 5 Days by the Heat. When the Quick-silver has drawn all the Metal to it, they put this Mass into great Troughs of Water, where they wash it till all the Dross runs off, and the pure Metal remains behind. The clean Silver they squeeze in a Cloth, which fetches out all the Quick-silver that is not incorporated in it. The rest of the Mass made like a Sugar-loaf, is cover'd over with an Earthen Pan of that shape, and a great Fire being made about it, all the Quick-silver runs out at a Pipe, like distill'd Water from a Limbeck, and the Silver remains in the same shape, and as big as it was put in, but only the fifth part in weight of what it was, being all like a Honey-comb, where the Quick-silver has been extracted. Then it is cast into Bars, and carry'd to the King's Stamping-house, where it is try'd, and the Mark set upon it according to its Fineness. F. Jos. Acosta. Nat. Hist. W. Ind. Chap. 5. & Sequen.

Plata virgen, Virgin Silver, that is, fine and pure, without any alloy.

Platano, the common Plane Tree, Lat. Platanus.
Platano, or rather Plantano. The Plantan, is a Tree in the West-Indies, which had this Name given it by the Spaniards, but for what reason is not known, since there is not the least resemblance betwixt this and the Plane Tree of Europe. This Indian Plantan has one Body, or Root in the Ground, from which many Shoots run up without touching one another, but every one grows up; and becomes as it were a distinct Tree, with Leaves so large that one of them will cover a Man almost from Head to Foot, of a very fine glossy Green. When it is a Fathom and a half, or two Fathoms high it bears one only cluster of Plantans, sometimes more, sometimes less in number, and I have told 300 upon one cluster. Every Plantan is above a span long, more or less, and two or three Inches thick, tho' they vary very much. The Rind is easily taken off, and all the rest is a solid tender Pulp, very good to eat, being wholesome and nourishing, and rather cold than hot. Sometimes the Branches are gather'd green, and ripen in great Jars close cover'd with an Herb peculiar for that purpose. If they let them ripen on the Tree they are better relish'd, and smell like choice Pippins. They last almost all the Year, for new Shoots are continually running up from the Trunk of the Plantan, and when one has done, another begins to bear, another is half grown, another shoots out anew, so that they succeed one another all the Year about. As soon as the cluster is gather'd, they cut down that Branch

Branch, or Shoot, for it never bears more than one, and once; but the Trunk, or Root remains and shoots afresh till it is spent, which is for several Years. It requires much Moisture and Heat. They throw Ashes on the Root to improve it, and there are Woods of Plantans which are very profitable, because it is the Fruit most generally us'd in the West-Indies. They make Wine of it, and eat it raw, roasted, several ways dress'd and preserv'd. The Branches are neither good for Fire, nor any other Use; but the Leaves may serve to write on in case of necessity. F. Jof. Acost. Nat. Hist. W. Ind. Lib. 4. Chap. 21. Pag. 247.

The Indians steep the White and Yellow, and grind it on a Stone, as we do Colours, to Anoint their Bodies. The best and sweetest of these sorts is the Yellow, whereof little is brought into Europe, because it is highly valu'd in India. All Sandal is cold in the third Degree, and dry in the second. The White and Yellow are good against the Head-ach, when it proceeds from a hot Cause. It is apply'd to the Forehead and Temples of such People, when they are like to fall into Deliriums. Pounded and steep'd in Rose-water, and Verjuice of Grapes, it allays the excessive Heat of the Stomach. Taken inwardly, it cools and cheers in burning Feavers. Mix'd with Cordial Medicines, and apply'd outwardly over the Heart and Liver, and to the Pulses it refreshes the Vital Spirits. The Red Sandal is good against Rheums falling from the Head; and apply'd with the Juice of Plantane, or Chokeweed, or Houfleaf, or Purslain, it is good against Inflammations, and the hot Gout and Impostumes.

Vicuñas, are a sort of wild Beasts in the Kingdom of Peru, somewhat resembling Goats, but without Horns, and bigger than Goats, and less than large Calves. No other part of the World has them but Peru and Chile, where they live on the highest Mountains, and most solitary and coldest Places, which the Indians call Punas. The Frost and Snow is so far from hurting, that they seem pleasing to them. Their colour is a light Murry. They go in Flocks, and are very swift, flying from Men, or other Beasts, as being very fearful, and when they fly they drive their Young before them. They do not appear to increase much, and therefore the Inga Kings had forbid Hunting them, but upon great Solemnities. Since the coming of the Spaniards too much Liberty has been allow'd. The Indians meet 2 or 3000, and making a Ring close by degrees, and catch as many as they please, letting go the Females to breed. They shear them, and of their Wool make the finest Coverlets, or Blankets in the World, for it is as soft as Silk, very lasting, and the colour being natural, never fades. They are cool and good for hot Weather, and some say they are wholesome for Inflammations, or the Gout. The Flesh of them is not good, but the Indians eat it. The Flesh of them just kill'd apply'd to the
